

You can't miss this - three of the best from the DunsPlayFest

No Regress by Robert Sproul-Cran

A comedy that reveals going back to your previous lives through hypnosis might be even worse!

Margarets by John McEwen

Margarets, which features two elderly women meeting again for the first time in years, is a play about making sense of it all, love and everyday heroism.

The Shortlist by Bob Noble

Three candidates are on a shortlist for a job, as information about the candidates emerges, two members of the interview panel turn on each other with disturbing results.

Three short plays in one night, 2 intervals, a bar, a blether and the ticket prices!
What's not to like?

See you there!